Farm Organization Is Need, Says Hyde

ATLANTA, July 4.—Agriculture is neither doomed nor are farmers about to be reduced to a condition of peonage, Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, told the annual meeting of the National Education association today.

"I do not share the fears of those who mourn the alleged fact that, in the struggle with industrialism, agriculture always has gone down," he said.

Turning to the feasible measures of relief, the secretary pointed out that helpful measures include tariff increases, cheaper transportation, reforestation of marginal lands, and research to find new markets and new uses for general farm products.

"There are many methods of partial relief," he said, "but, in a large measure, the means of relief is organization—organization to control marketing, to standardize output, and to eliminate waste and the duplication of a marketing system."

"By the long arm of his own organization, the farmer can reach out over his own line fences and make himself felt in the markets of the world. By organization, the farmer can aid in bringing his production within the limits of demand, he can eliminate the farm problem, and win his own place in the sum of economic equality."

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Anderson and Mrs. J. O. English and son Harold and daughter June have returned from an inspiring trip to Florida. They brought back some nice specimens of the finny tribe.

Farmers Plan Study of Fruit

AUBURN, Ala., July 4.—Chief among the courses expected to attract visitors during Farmers' Week here, August 5-10, are fruit and vegetable experiments of the department of horticulture of Alabama Polytechnic Institue. These courses are being arranged by Dr. C. L. Isbell, professor of horticulture, and Julian Brown, extension horticulturist. They will include studies of tree fruits, strawberries, grapes, common vegetables and pecans.

Particular emphasis is being placed on these courses because of the dearth of fruit in Alabama this year and the destruction caused to Florida fruits by the Mediterranean fruit fly, which has and is expected to continue to diminish the state's fruit supply. Especially has Alabama's peach crop caused anxiety, reports from North Alabama indicating that much of the fruit fallen from the trees. The only fruit showing promise, agricultural officials say, is the autumn orange crop in South Alabama.

To Inspect Grounds

The visitors will have opportunity to inspect the experiment grounds of agriculture that will be taught. The committee in charge, of which Prof. L. N. Duncan, director of the extension service, is general chairman, plans to give instruction in all branches of agriculture, including livestock, poultry, fertilizers, cotton, corn, farm management and farm machinery.

Leadership Training

Leadership training will be the main theme, Prof. Duncan said, adding that instruction in farmers' finance is an urgent need for community and county leaders to take their places in the progressive movement for agricultural advancement in Alabama. Training for this service will be given at Auburn during Farmers' Week."

A large number of women also are expected to enroll for the courses. A program for them is being arranged under the direction of Miss Helen Johnston, chairman of home demonstration work.

Meeting Called Of Farm Board

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The Federal Farm Board created by congress to stabilize the agricultural industry has been called by President Hoover to hold its first meeting Monday, July 15.

Although six of the board's nine members have been announced, appointments have been tendered for other posts and the president expects acceptances in time for the board to start functioning by the middle of the month. He hopes to announce the complete personnel after his return from the week-end trip to his Virginia fishing camp.

Although the location of the first meeting was not named, it was generally assumed in interested circles that the board would gather at the White House before noon Monday. President Hoover is to motor to Baltimore later to review the parade of the Rainbow Division. He is expected to welcome the farm board to its task and emphasize the importance attached to him by its work.

The three members still to be named are to represent the dairying and wheat industries and possibly banking and finance, although there is some doubt about the latter selection.

The president has said that a man versed in major financial operations would be named to the board to give the benefit of his experience in handling the $500,000,000 to be made available to the board. Since the selection of Alexander H. Legge, president of the International Harvester Company, however, there has been a question whether he is to represent the finance and business and a second representative of cotton or wheat appointed.

Mr. Legge is to serve as chairman for the first year, at least. Of the other four members appointed, James C. Stone, of Kentucky, will represent the tobacco growers and serve as vice chairman; Carl Williams, of Oklahoma City, is to represent cotton; C. B. Denman, of Farmington, Mo., livestock, and C. C. Teague, of Los Angeles, the fruit growers.

Secretary Hyde, the ninth member, is to serve ex-officio.

Mrs. Willie Michel, Hoben Michel and Rudolph Hoben Michel returned from a delightful visit to relatives in Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. W. M. Coston and Miss Henrietta Coston left Wednesday for Gadsden, where they will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. M. Rowe.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

After potatoes have been drained set them back on the stove for a few minutes to dry.

Cooking custards too long or too fast will cause them to become watery.

The main reason why so many farm women are overworked is because they do not have enough equipment in their homes. Electricity and running water will lift much of the burden.

A balanced ration—educational, social, recreational, spiritual—is the biggest need of many country communities.

From the crowds that gather, one would think there must be a law against watching a fire fight.

All brown rot peach dummies should be taken from the tree and burned as plowing these under does not destroy the fungus.

An ounce of calcium arsenate prevention may be worth a dollar of profit in the cotton yield.

Clean Eggs Will Bring More Money

A clean nest is essential in producing a clean product. Provide at least one nest for every five or six hens in order to avoid over-crowding in the nest. Over-crowding in the nests may cause breakage, and breakage causes dirty eggs. Be sure there is an adequate supply of litter in the nests. During rainy seasons change the litter often.

Clean eggs should be placed in clean containers or cases. Remember that dirt is acquired by the egg through contact. Old nail kegs, orange boxes, strawhats, and the like, make reasonably good nests if kept clean. Construct a nest approximately 14x14x14 inches, and, where practical, use ¾ inch material to build the nest and it is expected to continue to diminish the state's fruit supply. Especially has Alabama's peach crop caused anxiety, reports from North Alabama indicating that much of the fruit fallen from the trees. The only fruit showing promise, agricultural officials say, is the autumn orange crop in South Alabama.

Although the location of the first meeting was not named, it was generally assumed in interested circles that the board would gather at the White House before noon Monday. Headquarters of Cotton to Change

ATLANTA, Ga., July 4.—Headquarters of the Southern Cotton Arbitration Board will be moved from New Orleans to Atlanta soon, Committees representing the American Cotton Manufacturers Association and the American Cotton Shippers Association, announced.

The board has had its headquarters n New Orleans more than 40 years. Decision to make Atlanta headquarters came because of Atlanta's central location in the South, and because the humidity here is such it will affect cotton samples in the least degree.

The board's term will expire August 1 and a new group will be appointed. It is expected all new members will be selected in time to begin work here August 1.

Committee Appointed

An executive committee of four men, two from each committee, represented at the conference here, was appointed to make selections and arrange details of the change. The committee is made up of S. M. Beattie and W. A. Floyd, of Greenville, S. C.; Douglas H. Brooks, Memphis, Tenn., and Dameron Williams, of Charlotte, N. C.

The new board will consist of a chairman and four members and will have jurisdiction over grade, staple and other cotton disputes between members of the American Cotton Shippers Association, which comprises some 90 percent of all cotton shippers in the country, and members of the American Manufacturers Association, which includes virtually all cotton mills in the Southeast.

Expenses of Board

The committee representing the manufacturers association at the meeting here was made up of S. M. Beattie and W. A. Floyd, Greenville, S. C.; C. A. Cannon, Kannapolis, N. C.; A. K. Winget, Gastonia, N. C.; H. A. Ligon, Spartanburg, S. C.; W. D. Anderson, Macon, Ga., and A. W. Fisher, Kannapolis, N. C.

Representatives of the shippers association were: J. M. Locke, Muskogee, Okla.; W. J. Neal, Waco, Texas; Dabney Wilson, Charlotte, N. C.; Douglas H. Brooks, Memphis, Tenn., and F. M. Inman and Fred Cockrell, Atlanta.

Miss Orgia Boland, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Boland.

Miss Trudie Woodham, of Opp, was the week-end guest of Miss Pearl Brunson.

Mrs. R. L. Williamson and daughter, Lillian, of Dothan, were guests of Mrs. F. H. Murphree last Wednesday and Thursday.

W. C. LASSITER WILL ADDRESS FARMERS AT BUREAU MEETING

Annual Meeting of Coffee County Farm Bureau Will Be Held At New Brockton Saturday, July 20, Beginning At 9:30 A. M.

W. C. LASSITER

This is to remind you that Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock the annual meeting of the Coffee County Farm Bureau will be called to order by the president, Dr. W. C. Braswell, at the school building at New Brockton. This is centrally located in the county and is in easy reach of every person in the county. Let me urge you to come, bring your wife, and your neighbor, whether either of you have ever done any business with the Farm Bureau or not.

W. C. Lassiter, editor of the Progressive Farmer, is the principal speaker of the occasion. He is an exceptionally good speaker and since many of you have been reading after him in one of the leading farm papers of the South for a number of years, no doubt you would like to meet and talk with him personally. There will be other numbers and short talks on the program you will enjoy. The following is the complete program:

Song—Audience.
Prayer—
Saxophone Duet—
Reading—Miss Eloise Lasseter.
Girls 4-H Club Report—Miss Jewell Jackson.
Musical Number—Jean Brock.
Annual Report—Dr. W. C. Braswell.
Song—Audience.
Address—W. C. Lassiter.

Remember the date, Saturday, July 20, 9:30 o'clock. Place, New Brockton High School. Come, bring your family.

An Old Time Revival Campaign

The Rev. A. T. Hickman and wife will conduct a Revival campaign under a large brush arbor erected on the Jacob farm eight and one half miles north of Elba on the Troy and Elba highway, beginning Tuesday night, July 23rd. Services every night at 7:30, 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on Sundays.

The Rev. Hickman and wife are well known in this part of the country, and their many friends rejoice to have them back for this, another campaign. The Evangelist is a very forceful preacher. Hear him once, and you will hear him again. Mrs. Hickman is a gifted gospel singer, and her songs will be enjoyed. You are invited to attend this meeting. Every body welcome. Your friend will be there expecting you also. Remember the date July 23rd. To continue indefinite.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Vaughn and baby, of Malone, Fla., visited Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Whitman and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Whitman last week.

The Mississippi River Has Nothing On Elba

In the "Believe It or Not" department of the Montgomery Advertiser of last Friday appeared the startling assertion "The Mississippi river flows up hill." The "Father of Waters" hasn't got a thing on some of our streets right here in Elba.

North Court Street, from the northwest corner of the square to the next street north ordinarily drains into a storm sewer, the surface water running northward, but during the recent flood there was a 15-mile-an-hour current along this block, in front of The Clipper office, in the opposite direction (South), which proves that water, at times, flows up hill in the streets of Elba, as well as in the Mississippi River. What was true of North Court Street was also true of several other thoroughfares in Elba during the flood.

Although a large part of the evil, as Jack Marsh, disinfector, have been erased, there are still many things worth seeing in Elba, and we either invite everybody to visit this section to come and see what a transformation has taken place in the few short months since the March cyclone. Thursday, August 25th, is the date that has been set apart for the big free barbecue and basket dinner. Come and see the "Bigger and Better Elba."

First Hog Sale Here September 18

Wednesday, September 18th was set as date for first hog sale day at Elba. All who have hogs that can be made to weigh 165 pounds or more by that date will do well to begin now to push them as the price is usually good at that time and not so good later in year.

TWO MONTGOMERY STORES COLLAPSED INJURING 5 PEOPLE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 15.—Discovery of a crack in the wall of the Bullock Shoe Store building and a quick alarm to persons in the threatened area probably account for the fact that no lives were lost, as far as authorities are able to check up, when at 12:50 noon Monday, the excavation of the new Kress store on lower Dexter ave., and a few minutes later thy wall of the upper two stories of the Pizitz building sank upon the pile of brick, mortar and splintered timber.

Perhaps the most seriously injured is George E. Degruchy, manager of the Pizitz store who rushed back into the building to see that all the employes were out and, stumbling in the litter, fell upon an outstretched arm which was fractured in two places.

Others Are Injured

Two negro women were taken to the Fraternal hospital. One, Emma Brown, elevator operator, was badly bruised and shaken up. The other, Estelle Brown, was still unconscious at 3:20 o'clock. Ruth Anthony, newspaper woman, and Mary Sellers Brown, negress, both customers in the store, received cuts. One unidentified man was overcome by the heat, but quickly revived under emergency treatment. Many minor injuries were sustained, but careful search of the ruins and equally careful check of employes lists in both stores and the Kress pit failed to reveal anyone critically hurt. Search of the debris continued tonight, however, under direction of the assistant city engineer.

Earlier reports that the bodies of two negroes had been removed and that the bodies of two women could plainly be seen in the wreckage in Pizitz, proved unfounded. Property loss is variously estimated from $100,000 to $250,000. No exact figures can be placed until a complete survey is made.

Inspector Gives Warning

Sensing a plume of dust a hundred or more feet into the air, the Bullock building fell just after F. A. Gillette, building inspector, walked from the opposite side of Dexter avenue and gave warning of the impending catastrophe. A mad rush to safety followed.

Before it was fully realized that a serious tragedy in the one store had been miraculously escaped, the Pizitz wall sank, with another volume of dirt and dust and a terrifying boom.

W. P. Glenn, assistant manager of the Pizitz store, said that the stock of this store was worth approximately $75,000. Bullock's is understood to have carried stock of about the same value. Each is believed to have some salvage value. What the damage to the building will amount to is all a matter of surmise at present.

Firemen were called after the first crash had caused an alarm to be set in. Among the first to enter the building were Assistant Fire Chief S. F. Mitchell and Inspector O. L. Lee and squad of pipemen. They were on the second floor when the second crash came. All barely escaped injury but were able to go back down the steps and out through the front door. Chief Mitchell and Inspector Lee both declared that they saw no one in the store as they made their way out.

Mr. Glenn was on the first floor and was not hurt. He said that he was of the opinion that all employees and customers had been sufficiently warned at the first crash and made their way to safety. Money in safes and cash drawers was removed by Mr. Glenn. Arthur Smoolan and Louis Pizitz, owners of the store, were reported on their way here from Birmingham.

Charlie Johnson, assistant city engineer, was immediately put in charge of removing the debris in the search for any bodies that might have been trapped.

Chief of Police W. H. Taylor, shortly after the crash, called the night force of the police department into action. Major Walter R. Weaver, commandant of Maxwell field, ordered men to the scene. Trucks of the sanitary and water works department, the Alabama Power Company and many other places were ordered into play 10 minutes after the second crash. More than 200 persons were engaged in removing wreckage.

Young Peoples' Council At New Brockton

The Baptist young people of Coffee County are looking forward to their July meeting at new Brockton on the 20th, when Miss Nell Boyles, State worker for Alabama, will speak to them on the subject of "Stewardship." A large number are expected to attend and every junior organization is requested to be represented and to forward reports promptly to Mrs. Bob Hutchison, Elba.

NEGRO KILLS MOTORIST; INJURES HIS GIRL COMPANION

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11.—State officers and deputies from the force of Sheriff Scogin, of Montgomery County, left here Thursday to aid in the search for the negro Miss Beatrice Clark, of Eufaula, Ala., charges killed her companion, Jack Hines, and injured her as they motored along a highway near Eufaula Wednesday night.

Bloodhounds were sent from Kilby Prison, state penitentiary here, to Mamye, 32 miles southeast, on receipt of word that the negro wrecked the couple's machine, in which he escaped, Thursday morning.

Reports from Barbour and Bullock Counties said large posses of citizens were organizing for the search.

Miss Clark suffered severe injuries, but when she recovered consciousness she walked to a railroad track nearby, where she made her way to a basket factory in Hoboken, suburb of Eufaula.

William Rutland, of Hoboken, rushed her to the hospital in Eufaula, where an alarm was given and a posse quickly organized to search for the fugitive. A posse mas still searching Thursday morning, according to reports.

Girl Victim Of Assault Identifies Negro Slayer

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 16.—Identification of Lester Bouyer, alias Charley Harris, 38, negro, as the slayer of Jack Hines, Eufaula mechanic, and attacker of Miss Beatrice Clark, was announced by state law enforcement officers late Tuesday in a telephi conversation with Gov Bibb Graves.

It was impossible to make a personal identification because of the danger of mob violence at Eufaula, the officers told the governor by telephone.

Flashlight Identified

In addition to making the identification, E. Potter Smith, state law enforcement officer, said Miss Clark identified a flashlight found on the negro's person as being the property of Hines.

Bouyer was arrested by Smith and S. E. Tranum early Tuesday morning at the home of a negro woman, Susie Perkins, near the Speigner Penitentiary. The negro had recently completed serving an eight-year-term in Speigner for robbery, officers said.

Fingerprints Tally

Officers declared that fingerprints found on a shotgun which a negro trailed for gasoline at a filling station tallied with those of Bouyer on file at Speigner Penitentiary.

Bouyer was taken to Kilby Penitentiary for safe keeping, pending the filing of formal charges, according to officials.

Search for Bouyer began last Saturday night when the filling station operator, a negro, recognized a photograph of Bouyer and identified him as the man who traded the shotgun for gasoline.

Hines' automobile was found 32 miles away from here on last Thursday, in a wrecked condition.

Mrs. Corrie Bryant has returned to her home after a few days visit to friends and relatives in Enterprise.

Misses Luna Delle and Estelle Bryant were the guests of their sister, Mrs. D. B. Hammonds, in Dothan, Friday.

RIVER FALLS POWER COMPANY'S POINT A NOW IN READINESS

Officials Hope To Cut In Turbines On Circuit By Middle of Week; Fast Progress At Gantt Dam. Good Service Promised.

(Andalusia Star, July 12.)

Point A of the River Falls Power Company is now in readiness with the exception of details now being completed by the engineering officials are contemplating lowering head gates today for a twenty-three foot head of water which will reach its level by the first of the week.

Two shifts of fifty workmen each have been on the scene since the flood which caused considerable damage and, according to those who have kept in contact with the progress, no project in this section has made better headway.

If the turbines are in good shape as experts believe, the plant will be ready for operation as quickly as a normal head of water is obtained. The turbines have been undergoing a drying process for some time now by means of distributing current through them.

The transformers have been overhauled and are now connected. This required a great amount of work as they had been undermined and had to be dug from the river bottom, reworked and moved inside the plant. Before the flood they were stationed just outside of the plant. Each of the transformers weigh 14,900 pounds.

Point A sustained considerably less damage than did the Gantt Dam. There being only a portion of the dirt dam destroyed, with the exception of the flood plant.

It is understood that thet turbines will be run for some time before being cut into the circuit, probably a day or two, officials said.

The dam has been made broader and will be higher than formerly, and according to engineers, will make it improbable that another flood even of such proportions as that of the early spring will cause a break.

At the Gantt dam can be seen some of the most modern equipment including air hammer with compressed air machine, gasoline driven pumps and hoisting fixtures among concrete mixers. All this equipment was built for work of this nature and construction work can progress with remarkable speed according to officials.

The clay dam has been replaced and the coffer dam was completed today.

Some onlookers who were on the scene at the time and who had not seen it since the flood remarked that it seemed impossible for as much progress to have been made. Others seemed to admire the modern equipment as it functioned so readily at the hands of skilled workmen.

The coffer dam will hold twelve feet of water above normal, it is understood. This was being closed yesterday which forces the water through another channel thereby permitting construction work on the cement foundation.

Air hammers are digging into the cement floor of the plant for the purpose of releasing the old conduit where new material will be placed. The old switchboard is being moved out from the wall and reworked. The turbines did not get under water in this plant, it is understood.

Two shifts or more than eighty men are at work on this dam.

Farm Organization Is Need, Says Hyde

ATLANTA, July 4.—Agriculture is neither doomed nor are farmers about to be reduced to a condition of peonage, Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, told the annual meeting of the National Education association today.

"I do not share the fears of those who mourn the alleged fact that, in the struggle with industrialism, agriculture always has gone down," he said.

Turning to the feasible measures of relief, the secretary pointed out that helpful measures include tariff increases, cheaper transportation, reforestation of marginal lands, and research to find new markets and new uses for general farm products.

"There are many methods of partial relief," he said, "but, in a large measure, the means of relief is organization—organization to control marketing, to standardize output, and to eliminate waste and the duplication of a marketing system.

"By the long arm of his own organization, the farmer can reach out over his own line fences and make himself felt in the markets of the world. By organization, the farmer can aid in bringing his production within the limits of demand, he can eliminate the farm problem, and win his own place in the sum of economic equality."

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Anderson and Mrs. J. O. English and son Rudolph and Junior Jones have returned from a camping trip in Florida. They brought back some nice specimens of the finny tribe.

Farmers Plan Study of Fruit

AUBURN, Ala., July 4.—Chief among the courses expected to attract visitors during Farmers Week here, August 5-10, are fruit and vegetable experiments, the department of horticulture of Alabama Polytechnic Institute. These courses are being arranged by Dr. C. L. Isbell, professor of horticulture, and Julian Brown, extension horticulturist. They will include studies of tree fruits, strawberries, grapes, common vegetables and pecans.

Particular emphasis is being placed on these courses because of the dearth of fruit in Alabama this year and the destruction caused to Florida fruits by the Mediterranean fruit fly, which has and is expected to continue to diminish the state's fruit supply. Especially has Alabama's peach crop caused anxiety, reports from North Alabama indicating that much of the fruit fallen from the trees. The only fruit showing promise, agricultural officials say, is the satsuma orange crop in South Alabama.

To Inspect Grounds

The visitors will have opportunity to inspect the experiment grounds of agriculture that will be taught. The course in nursery, of which Prof. L. N. Duncan, director of the extension service, is general chairman, plans to give instruction in all branches of agriculture, including livestock, poultry, fertilizers, cotton, corn, farm management and farm machinery.

Leadership Training

Leadership training will be the main theme, Prof. Duncan said, adding that throughout Alabama there is an urgent need for community and county leaders to take definite places in the progressive movement for agricultural advancement in Alabama. Training for this service will be given at Auburn during Farmer's Week."

A large number of women also are expected to enroll for the courses, a program for them being arranged under the direction of Miss Helen Johnston, chairman of home demonstration work.

Meeting Called Of Farm Board

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The Federal Farm Board created by congress to stabilize the agricultural industry has been called by President Hoover to hold its first meeting Monday, July 15.

Although six of the board's nine members have been announced, appointments have been tendered for other posts and the president expects acceptances in time for the board to start functioning by the middle of the month. He hopes to announce the complete personell after his return from the week-end trip to his Virginia fishing camp.

Although the location of the first meeting was not named, it was generally assumed in informed circles that the board would gather at the White House before noon Monday. President Hoover is to motor to Baltimore late to review the parade of the Rainbow Division. He is expected to welcome the farm board to its task and emphasize the importance attached to him by its work.

The three members still to be named are to represent the dairying and wheat industries and possibly banking and finance, although there is some doubt about the latter selection.

The president has said that a man versed in major financial operations would be named to the board to give the benefit of his experience in handling the $500,000,000 to be made available to the board. Since the selection of Alexander H. Legge, president of the International Harvester Company, was announced, however, there has been a question whether he is to represent both finance and business and a second representative of cotton or wheat be appointed.

Mr Legge is to serve as chairman for the first year, at least. Of the other four members appointed, James C. Stone, of Kentucky, will represent the tobacco growers and serve as vice chairman; Carl Williams, of Oklahoma City, is to represent cotton; C. B. Denman, of Farmington, Mo., livestock, and C. C. Teague, of Los Angeles, the fruit growers.

Secretary Hyde, the ninth member, is to serve ex-officio.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

After potatoes have been drained set them back on the stove for a few minutes to dry.

Cooking custards too long or too fast will cause them to become watery.

The main reason why so many farm women are overworked is because they do not have enough equipment in their homes. Electricity and running water will lift much of the burden.

A balanced ration—educational, social, recreational, spiritual—is the largest need of many country communities.

From the crowds that gather, one would think there must be a law against watching a dog fight.

All brown rot peach dummies should be taken from the tree and burned as plowing these under does not destroy the fungus.

An ounce of calcium arsenate prevention may be worth a dollar of profit in the cotton yield.

Clean Eggs Will Bring More Money

A clean nest is essential in producing a clean product. Provide at least one nest for every five or six hens in order to avoid over-crowding in the nest. Over-crowding in the nests may cause breakage, and breakage causes dirty eggs. Be sure there is an adequate supply of litter in the nests. During rainy seasons change the litter often.

Clean eggs should be placed in clean containers or cases. Remember that dirt is acquired by the egg through contact. Old nail kegs, orange boxes, strawhats, and the like, make reasonably good nests if kept clean. Construct a nest approximately 14x14x14 inches, and, where practical, use ¼ inch wire mesh for the bottom.

Clean, quality eggs will bring added profits and stimulate consumption. With greater demand we generally have improvement in prices. Clean, wholesome eggs of first class quality, both externally and internally, should be a pride to the producer, and should induce the consumer to buy more. Clean eggs, properly produced, will appeal to the consumer and sell themselves. Cleanliness is an enemy of waste.

Our difficulties today in the marketing of eggs and poultry lie not so much with the agencies we have would be named to the board to give the benefit of his experience in handling the $500,000,000 to be made available to the board. Since the selection of Alexander H. Headquarters of Cotton to Change

ATLANTA, Ga., July 4.—Headquarters of the Southern Cotton Arbitration Board will be moved from New Orleans to Atlanta soon, Committees representing the American Cotton Manufacturers Association and the American Cotton Shippers Association, announced.

The board has had its headquarters n New Orleans more than 40 years. Decision to make Atlanta headquarters came because of Atlanta's central location in the South, and because the humidity here is such it will affect cotton samples in the least degree.

The board's term will expire August 1 and a new group will be appointed. It is expected all new members will be selected in time to begin work here August 1.

Committee Appointed

An executive committee of four men, two from each committee, represented at the conference here, was appointed to make selections and arrange details of the change. The committee is made up of S. M. Beattie and W. A. Floyd, of Greenville, S. C.; Douglas H. Brooks, Memphis, Tenn., and Dameron Williams, of Charlotte, N. C.

The new board will consist of a chairman and four members and will have jurisdiction over grade, staple and other cotton disputes between members of the American Cotton Shippers Association, which comprises some 90 percent of all cotton shipped in the country, and members of the American Manufacturers Association, which includes virtually all cotton mills in the Southeast.

Expenses of Board

The committee representing the manufacturers association at a meeting here was made up of S. M. Beattie and W. A. Foyd, Greenville, S. C.; C. A. Cannon, Kannapolis, N. C.; A. S. Winget, Gastonia, N. C.; H. A. Ligon, Spartanburg, S. C.; W. D. Anderson, Macon, Ga., and A. W. Fisher, Kannapolis, N. C.

Representatives of the shippers association were: J. M. Locke, Muskogee, Okla.; W. J. Neal, Waco, Texas; Dameron Williams, Charlotte, N. C.; Douglas H. Brooks, Memphis, Tenn., and F. M. Inman and Freel Cockrell, Atlanta.

W. C. LASSITER WILL ADDRESS FARMERS AT BUREAU MEETING

Annual Meeting of Coffee County Farm Bureau Will Be Held At New Brockton Saturday, July 20, Beginning At 9:30 A. M.

W. C. LASSITER

This is to remind you that Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock the annual meeting of the Coffee County Farm Bureau will be called to order by the president, Dr. W. C. Braswell, at the school building at New Brockton. Elba is centrally located in the county and is in easy reach of every person in the county. Let me urge you to come, bring your wife, and your neighbor, whether either of you have ever done any business with the Farm Bureau or not.

W. C. Lassiter, editor of the Progressive Farmer, is the principal speaker of the occasion. He is an exceptionally good speaker and since many of you have been reading after him in one of the leading farm papers of the South for a number of years, no doubt you would like to meet and talk with him personally. There will be other numbers and short talks on the program you will enjoy. The following is the complete program:

Song—Audience.
Prayer—
Saxophone Duet—
Reading—Miss Eloise Lassetter.
Girls 4-H Club Report—Miss Jewell Jackson.
Musical Number—Jean Brock.
Annual Report—Dr. W. C. Braswell.
Song—Audience.
Address—W. C. Lassiter.

Remember the date, Saturday, July 20, 9:30 o'clock. Place, New Brockton High School. Come, bring your family.

An Old Time Revival Campaign

The Mississippi River Has Nothing On Elba

In the "Believe it or Not" department of the Montgomery Advertiser of last Friday appeared the startling assertion: "The Mississippi river flows up hill." The "Father of Waters" hasn't got a thing on some of our streets right here in Elba.

North Court Street, from the northwest corner of the square to the next street north ordinarily drains into a storm sewer, the surface water running northward, but during the recent flood there was a 15-mile-an-hour current along this block, in front of The Clipper office, in the opposite direction (South), which proves that water, at times, flows up hill in the streets of Elba, as well as in the Mississippi River. What was true of North Court street was also true of several other thoroughfares in Elba during the flood.

Although a large part of the evidences of the March disaster have been erased, there are still many things worth seeing in Elba, and our citizens invite everybody in this section to come and see what a transformation has taken place in the few short months since the March disaster. Thursday, August 25th, is the date that has been set apart for the big basket picnic and basket dinner. Come and see the "Bigger and Better Elba."

Clio Youth Dies From Eating Poisoned Food

James Stephens, aged about 20 years, passed away at the home of his parents in Clio Wednesday afternoon, after suffering from an illness of about ten days, said to have been caused by ptomaine poisoning, caused from eating canned goods that were poison.

Mr. Stephens was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Stephens, of Clio, and recently graduated from the Barbour County High School. The past term he was a student at the Clio Junior College, and was very popular among the younger set of his home community.

It was stated that Mr. Stephens became ill several days ago after eating some canned goods, and at that time physicians pronounced his condition as being critical.

The deceased is survived by his parents, three sisters and five brothers.—Clayton Record.

TWO MONTGOMERY STORES COLLAPSED INJURING 5 PEOPLE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 15. —Discovery of a crack in the wall of the Bullock Shoe Store building and a quick alarm to persons in the threatened area probably account for the fact that no lives were lost, as far as authorities are able to check up, when at 12:50 noon Monday, the excavation of the new Kress store on lower Dexter ave., and a few minutes later the wall of the upper two stories of the Pizitz building sank upon the pile of brick, mortar and splintered timber.

Perhaps the most seriously injured is George E. Degruchy, manager of the Pizitz store who rushed back into the building to see that all the employes were out and stumbling in the litter, fell upon an outstretched arm which was fractured in two places.

Others Are Injured

Two negro women were taken to the Fraternal hospital. One, Emma Brown, elevator operator, was badly bruised and shaken up. The other, Estelle Brown, was still unconscious at 5:30 o'clock. Ruth Anthony, newspaper woman, and Mary Sellers Brown, negress, both customers in the store, received cuts. One unidentified man was overcome by the heat, but quickly revived under emergency treatment. Many minor injuries were sustained, but careful search of the ruins and equally careful check of employes lists in both stores and the Kress pit failed to reveal anyone critically hurt. Search of the debris continued tonight, however, under direction of the assistant city engineer.

Earlier reports that the bodies of two negroes had been removed and that the bodies of two women could plainly be seen in the wreckage in Pizitz, proved unfounded.

Property loss is variously estimated from $150,000 to $250,000. No exact figures can be placed until a complete survey is made.

Inspector Gives Warning

Sending a plume of dust a hundred or more feet into the air, the Bullock building fell just after F. A. Gillette, building inspector, rushed from the opposite side of Dexter avenue and gave warning of the impending catastrophe. A mad rush to safety followed.

Before it was fully realized that a serious tragedy in the one store had been miraculously averted, the Pizitz wall sank, with another volume of dirt and dust and a terrifying boom.

W. F. Glenn, assistant manager of the Pizitz store, said that the stock of this store was worth approximately $75,000. Bullock's is understood to have carried stock of about the same value. Each is believed to have some salvage value. What the damage to the buildings will amount to is all a matter of surmise at present.

Firemen were called after the first crash had caused an alarm to be sent in. Among the first to enter the building were Assistant Fire Chief S. F. Mitchell and Inspector O. L. Lee and squad of pipemen. They were on the second floor when the second crash came. All barely escaped injury but were able to go back down the steps and out through the front door. Chief Mitchell and Inspector Lee both declared that they saw no one in the store as they made their way out.

Mr. Glenn was on the first floor and was not hurt. He said that he was of the opinion that all employees and customers had been sufficiently warned after the first crash and made their way to safety. Money in safes and cash drawers was removed by Mr. Glenn. Arthur Smolian and Louis Pizitz, owners of the store, were reported on their way here from Birmingham.

Charlie Johnson, assistant city engineer, was immediately put in charge of removing the debris in the search for any bodies that might have been trapped.

Chief of Police W. H. Taylor, shortly after the crash, called the night force of the police department into action. Major Walter R. Weaver, commandant of Maxwell field, ordered men to the scene. Trucks of the sanitary and water works department, the Alabama Power Company and many other places were ordered into play 10 minutes after the second crash. More than 200 persons were engaged in removing wreckage.

NEGRO KILLS MOTORIST; INJURES HIS GIRL COMPANION

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11. —State officers and deputies from the force of Sheriff Scogin, of Montgomery County, left here Thursday to aid in the search for the negro Miss Beatrice Clark, of Eufaula, Ala., charges killed her companion, Jack Hines, and injured her as they motored along a highway near Eufaula Wednesday night.

Bloodhounds were sent from Kilby Prison, state penitentiary here, to Mamye, 32 miles southeast, on receipt of word that the negro wrecked the couple's machine, in which he escaped, Thursday morning.

Reports from Barbour and Bullock Counties said large posses of citizens were organizing for the search.

Miss Clark suffered severe injuries, but when she recovered consciousness she walked to a railroad track nearby, where she made her way to a basket factory in Hobdon, suburb of Eufaula.

William Rutland, of Hobdon, rushed her to the hospital in Eufaula, where an alarm was given and a posse quickly organized to search for the fugitive. A posse mas still searching Thursday morning, according to reports.

Mr. Hines' body was brought to the Dowling Funeral home in Eufaula. He was an employ of the Home Oil Company. Physicians said that Miss Clark's arm was so badly mutilated that it probably will have to be amputated.

Girl Victim Of Assault Identifies Negro Slayer

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 16. —Identification of Lester Bouyer, alias Charley Harris, 38, negro, as the slayer of Jack Hines, Eufaula mechanic, and attacker of Miss Beatrice Clark, was announced by state law enforcement officers late Tuesday in a telephone conversation with Gov Bibb Graves.

It was impossible to make a personal identification because of the danger of mob violence at Eufaula, the officers told the governor by telephone.

Flashlight Identified

In addition to making the identification, E. Potter Smith, state law enforcement officer, said Miss Clark identified a flashlight found on the negro's person as being the property of Hines.

Bouyer was arrested by Smith and S. E. Tranum early Tuesday morning at the home of a negro woman, Susie Perkins, near the Speigner Penitentiary. The negro had recently completed serving an eight-year-term in Speigner for robbery, officers said.

Fingerprints Tally

RIVER FALLS POWER COMPANY'S POINT A NOW IN READINESS

Officials Hope To Cut In Turbines On Circuit By Middle of Week; Fast Progress At Gantt Dam. Good Service Promised.

(Andalusia Star, July 12.)

Point A of the River Falls Power Company is now in readiness with the exception of detail work. Engineering officials are contemplating lowering head gates today for a twenty-three foot head of water which will reach its level by the first of the week.

Two shifts of fifty workmen each have been on the scene since the flood which caused considerable damage and necessitated the work have kept in contact with the progress, no project in this section has made better headway.

If the turbines are in good shape as experts believe, the plant will be ready for operation as quickly as a normal head of water is obtained. The turbines have been undergoing a drying process for several weeks by means of distributing current through them.

The transformers have been overhauled and are now connected. This required a great amount of work as they had been undermined and had to be dug from the river bottom, reworked and moved inside the plant. Before the flood they were stationed just outside of the plant. Each of the transformers weigh 14,000 pounds.

Point A sustained considerably less damage than did the Gantt Dam. There being only a portion of the dirt dam destroyed, with the exception of the flooded plant.

It is understood that the turbines will be run for some time before being cut into the circuit, probably a day or two, officials said.

The dam has been made broader and will be higher than formerly, and according to engineers, will be able to withstand any future flood even of such proportions as that of the early spring will cause it to do.

At the Gantt dam can be seen some of the most modern equipment including air hammer with compressed air machine, gasoline driven pumps and hoisting rigs among concrete mixers. All this equipment was built for work of this nature and construction work can progress with remarkable speed according to officials.

The clay dam has been replaced and the coffer dam was completed today.

Some onlookers who were on the scene at the time and who had not seen it since the flood remarked that it seemed impossible for as much progress to have been made. Others seemed to admire the modern equipment as it functioned so readily at the hands of skilled workmen.

The coffer dam will hold twelve feet of water above normal, it is understood. This was being closed yesterday which forced the water through another channel thereby permitting construction work on the cement foundation.

Air hammers are digging into the cement floor of the plant for the purpose of releasing the old conduit where new material will be placed. The old switchboard is being moved out from the wall and reworked. The turbines did not get under water in this plant, it is understood.

Two shifts or more than eighty men are at work on this dam.

BARBECUE POSTPONED

The committee in charge autorizes The Clipper to announce that the barbecue and basket dinner advertised for Elba, July 25th, has been postponed until further notice.

Bouyer was taken to Kilby Penitentiary for safe keeping, pending the filing of formal charges, according to officials.

Search for Bouyer began last Saturday night when the filling station operator, a negro, recognized a photograph of Bouyer and identified him as the man who traded the shotgun for gasoline.

Mrs. Corrie Bryant has returned to her home after a few days visit to friends and relatives in Enterprise.

Misses Luna Delle and Estelle Bryant were the guests of their sister, Mrs. D. B. Hammonds, in Dothan, Friday.

Farm Organization Is Need, Says Hyde

ATLANTA, July 4.—Agriculture is neither doomed nor are farmers about to be reduced to a condition of peonage, Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, told the annual meeting of the National Education association today.

"I do not share the fears of those who mourn the alleged fact that, in the struggle with industrialism, agriculture always has gone down," he said.

Turning to the feasible measures of relief, the secretary pointed out that helpful measures include tariff increases, cheaper transportation, reforestation of marginal lands, and research to find new markets and new uses for general farm products.

"There are many methods of partial relief," he said, "but, in a large measure, the means of relief is organization—organization to control marketing, to standardize output, and to eliminate waste and the duplication of a marketing system.

"By the long arm of his own organization, the farmer can reach out over his own line fences and make himself felt in the markets of the world. By organization, the farmer can aid in bringing his production within the limits of demand, he can eliminate the farm problem, and win his own place in the sum of economic equality."

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Anderson and Mrs. J. O. English and son Rudolph and Junior Jones have returned from a camping trip in Florida. They brought back some nice specimens of the finny tribe.

Farmers Plan Study of Fruit

AUBURN, Ala., July 4.—Chief among the courses expected to attract visitors during Farmers Week here, August 5-10, are fruit and vegetable experiments, the department of horticulture of Alabama Polytechnic Institute. These courses are being arranged by Dr. C. L. Isbell, professor of horticulture, and Julian Brown, extension horticulturist. They will include studies of tree fruits, strawberries, grapes, common vegetables and pecans.

Particular emphasis is being placed on these courses because of the dearth of fruit in Alabama this year and the destruction caused to Florida fruits by the Mediterranean fruit fly, which has and is expected to continue to diminish the state's fruit supply. Especially has Alabama's peach crop caused anxiety, reports from North Alabama indicating that much of the fruit fallen from the trees. The only fruit showing promise, agricultural officials say, is the satsuma orange crop in South Alabama.

To Inspect Grounds

The visitors will have opportunity to inspect the experiment grounds of agriculture that will be taught. The course in nursery, of which Prof. L. N. Duncan, director of the extension service, is general chairman, plans to give instruction in all branches of agriculture, including livestock, poultry, fertilizers, cotton, corn, farm management and farm machinery.

Leadership Training

Leadership training will be the main theme, Prof. Duncan said, adding that throughout Alabama there is an urgent need for community and county leaders to take definite places in the progressive movement for agricultural advancement in Alabama. Training for this service will be given at Auburn during Farmer's Week."

A large number of women also are expected to enroll for the courses, a program for them being arranged under the direction of Miss Helen Johnston, chairman of home demonstration work.

Meeting Called Of Farm Board

WASHINGTON, July 5.—The Federal Farm Board created by congress to stabilize the agricultural industry has been called by President Hoover to hold its first meeting Monday, July 15.

Although six of the board's nine members have been announced, appointments have been tendered for other posts and the president expects acceptances in time for the board to start functioning by the middle of the month. He hopes to announce the complete personell after his return from the week-end trip to his Virginia fishing camp.

Although the location of the first meeting was not named, it was generally assumed in informed circles that the board would gather at the White House before noon Monday. President Hoover is to motor to Baltimore late to review the parade of the Rainbow Division. He is expected to welcome the farm board to its task and emphasize the importance attached to him by its work.

The three members still to be named are to represent the dairying and wheat industries and possibly banking and finance, although there is some doubt about the latter selection.

The president has said that a man versed in major financial operations would be named to the board to give the benefit of his experience in handling the $500,000,000 to be made available to the board. Since the selection of Alexander H. Legge, president of the International Harvester Company, was announced, however, there has been a question whether he is to represent both finance and business and a second representative of cotton or wheat be appointed.

Mr Legge is to serve as chairman for the first year, at least. Of the other four members appointed, James C. Stone, of Kentucky, will represent the tobacco growers and serve as vice chairman; Carl Williams, of Oklahoma City, is to represent cotton; C. B. Denman, of Farmington, Mo., livestock, and C. C. Teague, of Los Angeles, the fruit growers.

Secretary Hyde, the ninth member, is to serve ex-officio.

Mrs. Willie Michel, Hoben Michel and Rudolph Bonneau have returned from a delightful visit to relatives in Jacksonville, Fla.

Mrs. W. M. Coston and Miss Henrietta Coston left Wednesday for Gadsden, where they will be the guests of Dr. and Mrs. M. Rowe.

FARM AND HOME FACTS

After potatoes have been drained set them back on the stove for a few minutes to dry.

Cooking custards too long or too fast will cause them to become watery.

The main reason why so many farm women are overworked is because they do not have enough equipment in their homes. Electricity and running water will lift much of the burden.

A balanced ration—educational, social, recreational, spiritual—is the largest need of many country communities.

From the crowds that gather, one would think there must be a law against watching a dog fight.

All brown rot peach dummies should be taken from the tree and burned as plowing these under does not destroy the fungus.

An ounce of calcium arsenate prevention may be worth a dollar of profit in the cotton yield.

Clean Eggs Will Bring More Money

A clean nest is essential in producing a clean product. Provide at least one nest for every five or six hens in order to avoid over-crowding in the nest. Over-crowding in the nests may cause breakage, and breakage causes dirty eggs. Be sure there is an adequate supply of litter in the nests. During rainy seasons change the litter often.

Clean eggs should be placed in clean containers or cases. Remember that dirt is acquired by the egg through contact. Old nail kegs, orange boxes, strawhats, and the like, make reasonably good nests if kept clean. Construct a nest approximately 14x14x14 inches, and, where practical, use ¼ inch wire mesh for the bottom.

Clean, quality eggs will bring added profits and stimulate consumption. With greater demand we generally have improvement in prices. Clean, wholesome eggs of first class quality, both externally and internally, should be a pride to the producer, and should induce the consumer to buy more. Clean eggs, properly produced, will appeal to the consumer and sell themselves. Cleanliness is an enemy of waste.

Our difficulties today in the marketing of eggs and poultry lie not so much with the agencies we have would be named to the board to give the benefit of his experience in handling the $500,000,000 to be made available to the board. Since the selection of Alexander H. Legge, president of the International Harvester Company, was announced, however, there has been a question whether he is to represent both finance and business and a second representative of cotton or wheat be appointed.

Headquarters of Cotton to Change

ATLANTA, Ga., July 4.—Headquarters of the Southern Cotton Arbitration Board will be moved from New Orleans to Atlanta soon, Committees representing the American Cotton Manufacturers Association and the American Cotton Shippers Association, announced.

The board has had its headquarters n New Orleans more than 40 years. Decision to make Atlanta headquarters came because of Atlanta's central location in the South, and because the humidity here is such it will affect cotton samples in the least degree.

The board's term will expire August 1 and a new group will be appointed. It is expected all new members will be selected in time to begin work here August 1.

Committee Appointed

An executive committee of four men, two from each committee, represented at the conference here, was appointed to make selections and arrange details of the change. The committee is made up of S. M. Beattie and W. A. Floyd, of Greenville, S. C.; Douglas H. Brooks, Memphis, Tenn., and Dameron Williams, of Charlotte, N. C.

The new board will consist of a chairman and four members and will have jurisdiction over grade, staple and other cotton disputes between members of the American Cotton Shippers Association, which comprises some 90 percent of all cotton shipped in the country, and members of the American Manufacturers Association, which includes virtually all cotton mills in the Southeast.

Expenses of Board

The committee representing the manufacturers association at a meeting here was made up of S. M. Beattie and W. A. Foyd, Greenville, S. C.; C. A. Cannon, Kannapolis, N. C.; A. S. Winget, Gastonia, N. C.; H. A. Ligon, Spartanburg, S. C.; W. D. Anderson, Macon, Ga., and A. W. Fisher, Kannapolis, N. C.

Representatives of the shippers association were: J. M. Locke, Muskogee, Okla.; W. J. Neal, Waco, Texas; Dameron Williams, Charlotte, N. C.; Douglas H. Brooks, Memphis, Tenn., and F. M. Inman and Freel Cockrell, Atlanta.

Miss Orgia Boland, of Atlanta, Ga., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. I. Boland.

Miss Trudie Woodham, of Opp, was the week-end guest of Miss Pearl Brunson.

W. C. LASSITER WILL ADDRESS FARMERS AT BUREAU MEETING

Annual Meeting of Coffee County Farm Bureau Will Be Held At New Brockton Saturday, July 20, Beginning At 9:30 A. M.

W. C. LASSITER

This is to remind you that Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock the annual meeting of the Coffee County Farm Bureau will be called to order by the president, Dr. W. C. Braswell, at the school building at New Brockton. Elba is centrally located in the county and is in easy reach of every person in the county. Let me urge you to come, bring your wife, and your neighbor, whether either of you have ever done any business with the Farm Bureau or not.

W. C. Lassiter, editor of the Progressive Farmer, is the principal speaker of the occasion. He is an exceptionally good speaker and since many of you have been reading after him in one of the leading farm papers of the South for a number of years, no doubt you would like to meet and talk with him personally. There will be other numbers and short talks on the program you will enjoy. The following is the complete program:

Song—Audience.
Prayer—
Saxophone Duet—
Reading—Miss Eloise Lassetter.
Girls 4-H Club Report—Miss Jewell Jackson.
Musical Number—Jean Brock.
Annual Report—Dr. W. C. Braswell.
Song—Audience.
Address—W. C. Lassiter.

Remember the date, Saturday, July 20, 9:30 o'clock. Place, New Brockton High School. Come, bring your family.

An Old Time Revival Campaign

The Rev. A. T. Hickman and wife will conduct a revival campaign under a large brush arbor erected on the Jacob farm eight and one half miles north of Elba on the Troy and Elba highway, beginning Tuesday night, July 23rd. Services every night at 7:30, 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. on Sundays.

The Rev. Hickman and wife are well known in this part of the country, and their many friends rejoice to have them back for this, another campaign. The Evangelist is a very forceful preacher. Hear him once, and you will hear him again. Mrs. Hickman is a gifted gospel singer, and her songs will be enjoyed. You are invited to attend this meeting. Every body welcome. Your friend will be there expecting you also. Remember the date July 23rd. To continue indefinite.

The Mississippi River Has Nothing On Elba

In the "Believe it or Not" department of the Montgomery Advertiser of last Friday appeared the startling assertion: "The Mississippi river flows up hill." The "Father of Waters" hasn't got a thing on some of our streets right here in Elba.

North Court Street, from the northwest corner of the square to the next street north ordinarily drains into a storm sewer, the surface water running northward, but during the recent flood there was a 15-mile-an-hour current along this block, in front of The Clipper office, in the opposite direction (South), which proves that water, at times, flows up hill in the streets of Elba, as well as in the Mississippi River. What was true of North Court street was also true of several other thoroughfares in Elba during the flood.

Although a large part of the evidences of the March disaster have been erased, there are still many things worth seeing in Elba, and our citizens invite everybody in this section to come and see what a transformation has taken place in the few short months since the March disaster. Thursday, August 25th, is the date that has been set apart for the big basket picnic and basket dinner. Come and see the "Bigger and Better Elba."

Clio Youth Dies From Eating Poisoned Food

James Stephens, aged about 20 years, passed away at the home of his parents in Clio Wednesday afternoon, after suffering from an illness of about ten days, said to have been caused by ptomaine poisoning, caused from eating canned goods that were poison.

Mr. Stephens was the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Stephens, of Clio, and recently graduated from the Barbour County High School. The past term he was a student at the Clio Junior College, and was very popular among the younger set of his home community.

It was stated that Mr. Stephens became ill several days ago after eating some canned goods, and at that time physicians pronounced his condition as being critical.

The deceased is survived by his parents, three sisters and five brothers.—Clayton Record.

TWO MONTGOMERY STORES COLLAPSED INJURING 5 PEOPLE

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 15. —Discovery of a crack in the wall of the Bullock Shoe Store building and a quick alarm to persons in the threatened area probably account for the fact that no lives were lost, as far as authorities are able to check up, when at 12:50 noon Monday, the excavation of the new Kress store on lower Dexter ave., and a few minutes later the wall of the upper two stories of the Pizitz building sank upon the pile of brick, mortar and splintered timber.

Perhaps the most seriously injured is George E. Degruchy, manager of the Pizitz store who rushed back into the building to see that all the employes were out and stumbling in the litter, fell upon an outstretched arm which was fractured in two places.

Others Are Injured

Two negro women were taken to the Fraternal hospital. One, Emma Brown, elevator operator, was badly bruised and shaken up. The other, Estelle Brown, was still unconscious at 5:30 o'clock. Ruth Anthony, newspaper woman, and Mary Sellers Brown, negress, both customers in the store, received cuts. One unidentified man was overcome by the heat, but quickly revived under emergency treatment. Many minor injuries were sustained, but careful search of the ruins and equally careful check of employes lists in both stores and the Kress pit failed to reveal anyone critically hurt. Search of the debris continued tonight, however, under direction of the assistant city engineer.

Earlier reports that the bodies of two negroes had been removed and that the bodies of two women could plainly be seen in the wreckage in Pizitz, proved unfounded.

Property loss is variously estimated from $150,000 to $250,000. No exact figures can be placed until a complete survey is made.

Inspector Gives Warning

Sending a plume of dust a hundred or more feet into the air, the Bullock building fell just after F. A. Gillette, building inspector, rushed from the opposite side of Dexter avenue and gave warning of the impending catastrophe. A mad rush to safety followed.

Before it was fully realized that a serious tragedy in the one store had been miraculously averted, the Pizitz wall sank, with another volume of dirt and dust and a terrifying boom.

W. F. Glenn, assistant manager of the Pizitz store, said that the stock of this store was worth approximately $75,000. Bullock's is understood to have carried stock of about the same value. Each is believed to have some salvage value. What the damage to the buildings will amount to is all a matter of surmise at present.

Firemen were called after the first crash had caused an alarm to be sent in. Among the first to enter the building were Assistant Fire Chief S. F. Mitchell and Inspector O. L. Lee and squad of pipemen. They were on the second floor when the second crash came. All barely escaped injury but were able to go back down the steps and out through the front door. Chief Mitchell and Inspector Lee both declared that they saw no one in the store as they made their way out.

Mr. Glenn was on the first floor and was not hurt. He said that he was of the opinion that all employees and customers had been sufficiently warned after the first crash and made their way to safety. Money in safes and cash drawers was removed by Mr. Glenn. Arthur Smolian and Louis Pizitz, owners of the store, were reported on their way here from Birmingham.

Charlie Johnson, assistant city engineer, was immediately put in charge of removing the debris in the search for any bodies that might have been trapped.

Chief of Police W. H. Taylor, shortly after the crash, called the night force of the police department into action. Major Walter R. Weaver, commandant of Maxwell field, ordered men to the scene. Trucks of the sanitary and water works department, the Alabama Power Company and many other places were ordered into play 10 minutes after the second crash. More than 200 persons were engaged in removing wreckage.

NEGRO KILLS MOTORIST; INJURES HIS GIRL COMPANION

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 11. —State officers and deputies from the force of Sheriff Scogin, of Montgomery County, left here Thursday to aid in the search for the negro Miss Beatrice Clark, of Eufaula, Ala., charges killed her companion, Jack Hines, and injured her as they motored along a highway near Eufaula Wednesday night.

Bloodhounds were sent from Kilby Prison, state penitentiary here, to Mamye, 32 miles southeast, on receipt of word that the negro wrecked the couple's machine, in which he escaped, Thursday morning.

Reports from Barbour and Bullock Counties said large posses of citizens were organizing for the search.

Miss Clark suffered severe injuries, but when she recovered consciousness she walked to a railroad track nearby, where she made her way to a basket factory in Hobdon, suburb of Eufaula.

William Rutland, of Hobdon, rushed her to the hospital in Eufaula, where an alarm was given and a posse quickly organized to search for the fugitive. A posse mas still searching Thursday morning, according to reports.

Mr. Hines' body was brought to the Dowling Funeral home in Eufaula. He was an employ of the Home Oil Company. Physicians said that Miss Clark's arm was so badly mutilated that it probably will have to be amputated.

Girl Victim Of Assault Identifies Negro Slayer

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 16. —Identification of Lester Bouyer, alias Charley Harris, 38, negro, as the slayer of Jack Hines, Eufaula mechanic, and attacker of Miss Beatrice Clark, was announced by state law enforcement officers late Tuesday in a telephone conversation with Gov Bibb Graves.

It was impossible to make a personal identification because of the danger of mob violence at Eufaula, the officers told the governor by telephone.

Flashlight Identified

In addition to making the identification, E. Potter Smith, state law enforcement officer, said Miss Clark identified a flashlight found on the negro's person as being the property of Hines.

Bouyer was arrested by Smith and S. E. Tranum early Tuesday morning at the home of a negro woman, Susie Perkins, near the Speigner Penitentiary. The negro had recently completed serving an eight-year-term in Speigner for robbery, officers said.

Fingerprints Tally

RIVER FALLS POWER COMPANY'S POINT A NOW IN READINESS

Officials Hope To Cut In Turbines On Circuit By Middle of Week; Fast Progress At Gantt Dam. Good Service Promised.

(Andalusia Star, July 12.)

Point A of the River Falls Power Company is now in readiness with the exception of detail work. Engineering officials are contemplating lowering head gates today for a twenty-three foot head of water which will reach its level by the first of the week.

Two shifts of fifty workmen each have been on the scene since the flood which caused considerable damage and necessitated the work have kept in contact with the progress, no project in this section has made better headway.

If the turbines are in good shape as experts believe, the plant will be ready for operation as quickly as a normal head of water is obtained. The turbines have been undergoing a drying process for several weeks by means of distributing current through them.

The transformers have been overhauled and are now connected. This required a great amount of work as they had been undermined and had to be dug from the river bottom, reworked and moved inside the plant. Before the flood they were stationed just outside of the plant. Each of the transformers weigh 14,000 pounds.

Point A sustained considerably less damage than did the Gantt Dam. There being only a portion of the dirt dam destroyed, with the exception of the flooded plant.

It is understood that the turbines will be run for some time before being cut into the circuit, probably a day or two, officials said.

The dam has been made broader and will be higher than formerly, and according to engineers, will be able to withstand any future flood even of such proportions as that of the early spring will cause it to do.

At the Gantt dam can be seen some of the most modern equipment including air hammer with compressed air machine, gasoline driven pumps and hoisting rigs among concrete mixers. All this equipment was built for work of this nature and construction work can progress with remarkable speed according to officials.

The clay dam has been replaced and the coffer dam was completed today.

Some onlookers who were on the scene at the time and who had not seen it since the flood remarked that it seemed impossible for as much progress to have been made. Others seemed to admire the modern equipment as it functioned so readily at the hands of skilled workmen.

The coffer dam will hold twelve feet of water above normal, it is understood. This was being closed yesterday which forced the water through another channel thereby permitting construction work on the cement foundation.

Air hammers are digging into the cement floor of the plant for the purpose of releasing the old conduit where new material will be placed. The old switchboard is being moved out from the wall and reworked. The turbines did not get under water in this plant, it is understood.

Two shifts or more than eighty men are at work on this dam.

BARBECUE POSTPONED

The committee in charge autorizes The Clipper to announce that the barbecue and basket dinner advertised for Elba, July 25th, has been postponed until further notice.

tentiary.

Bouyer was taken to Kilby Penitentiary for safe keeping, pending the filing of formal charges, according to officials.

Search for Bouyer began last Saturday night when the filling station operator, a negro, recognized a photograph of Bouyer and identified him as the man who traded the shotgun for gasoline.

Hines' automobile was found 32 miles away from here on last Thursday, in a wrecked condition.

Mrs. Corrie Bryant has returned to her home after a few days visit to friends and relatives in Enterprise.

Misses Luna Delle and Estelle Bryant were the guests of their sister, Mrs. D. B. Hammonds, in Dothan, Friday.

Teachers Are Named For Oportunity Schools

According to Mr. C. O. Patterson, organizer, quite a bit of interest has been manifested throughout the county in the opportunity or adult schools which were opened Tuesday morning. Lindsey Furniture Co. In New Location

The Lindsey Furniture Company which has been located on the East Side of Court Square, has leased the building formerly occupied by White & Co., on the South Side of Court Square and has moved to that location. This firm has been, ever since its establishment by Jordan Lindsey, Mather Brothers and K. D. Thomason as principal stockholders.

This company will handle furniture and house furnishings exclusively and through their connection will be in position to offer high class goods at a very low price. They have an ad in today's paper inviting you to visit their new store.

Mr. T. J. Boothe, splendid Northwest Coffee citizen, was a visitor at Elba Saturday and called at The Clipper office to have his subscription marked up a year. Mr. Boothe says that crops are looking fine in his section and farmers are anticipating good yields this fall.

Cotton Clothing To Be Stressed

AUBURN, Ala., July 14.—Recognition of the merits of cotton for clothing for both men and women will be given at Farmers Week at the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, Auburn, Aug. 5-10. A plan proposed by MissDorothy Dean, extension specialist in clothing, would make it "cotton week" as well as farmers week and this plan was promptly approved by the committee in charge.

Those who attend the farmers' week program are asked to wear cotton clothes. Recognition of this will be given from time to time; and in this way an enlarged use of Alabama's greatest farm crop will be emphasized.

Cotton Clothes Popular

In making this suggestion Miss Dean said that cotton clothes have come into their own again. They are popular everywhere and everyone is wearing them, she declared.

The fact that cotton clothing is cool for Summer makes it especially desirable. It does not hold heat and soft cotton materials absorb moisture which evaporates fairly rapidly.

"Cotton material for women is found in varied patterns as silk or wool. It can be bought in heavy material such as pique, ratine, suiting, terry cloth, monk's cloth, etc.; soft fabric, as voile, batiste, crepe, gingham and eclice; light crisp material as lawn, dimity and organdy. The variety is endless," said Miss Dean.

Cotton Hose Praised

Chiffon lisle mesh hose are being worn with cotton dresses. They are made of fine cotton mercerized thread and are on sale at leading department stores. They are described by Miss Dean as being "lovely and durable."

By this action farm people of Alabama will make a direct contribution to the advancement of the cotton industry. Annually Alabama farmers produce raw cotton which sells for more than $100,000,000. Since production is tending upward in this and other states, new outlets for cotton are in demand.

Endurance Fliers Are Forced Down

CULVER CITY, Cal., July 13.—After ten days and a quarter in the air, two fliers completed a new aviation epic here yesterday when they brought their biplane "Angeleno" to earth, bearing a new record for sustained flight.

Loren W. Meniell, of Los Angeles, and Round D. (Pete) Reinhart, of Salem, Ore., upon landing their Buhl sedan at 2:13 p. m., had been aloft 246 hours, 43 minutes and 32 seconds, exceeding the previous record by 72 hours, 42 minutes and 33 seconds. The "Angeleno," powered by a second-hand Wright Whirlwind motor, left the ground Tuesday of last week at 7:29:50 a. m. Since that time the previous record had been established at Cleveland.

The gruelling duel between man and machine in this magnificent test, in the skies, ended in a draw as each, or both man and engine were ready to carry on. It was the fabrication of the second-hand ship which gave way. The flight was brought to an end when the tail group started fluttering and made it impossible to carry on the 35th refueling.

"We will have to give the engine credit for everything," was the first comment of Chief Pilot Meniell as he clambered from the ship. Never before has an airplane engine done anything like like this. If the engine could talk, perhaps it would have paid a like compliment to the men, for never before have two humans gone such a test.

Birmingham Man Dies When Airplane Crashes

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 14.—One man was burned to death and two others injured here today when an airplane crashed into the backyard of a suburban home and burst into flames. B. F. Dixon, 35, secretary-treasurer of a wholesale produce firm, burned to death in the plane wreckage. The injured are: F. C. Cornelius, and Robert S. Horsley, pilot.

The plane's gasoline tank was said by witnesses to have exploded when the ship hit the ground.

The plane fell from an altitude of about 20 feet, five blocks from the take-off.

Glenn Messer, owner of the plane, assigned failure to gain altitude because of faulty motor operation as the cause of the crash.

The plane barely missed crashing into a house, the landing gear knocking a radio aerial from one home before plunging to the ground.

Alabama farmers are placing eggs in cold storage. They do this by marketing through their county Farm Bureaus, which co-operate with the county agents. When the eggs are placed in cold storage the farmers receive part payment, usually about 20 cents. When the eggs are sold for the high prices next winter, farmers will receive the remainder of what the eggs bring, less storage charges.

Walker County Man Slain In Row Over Road Rights

JASPER, Ala., July 13.—One man was dead and another in jail here charged with first degree murder today, the result of their inability to agree over the rights of the other on a highway.

Marvin Weems, 27, miner, of Gorgas, told officers that he shot and killed Joe Lockwood, 31, of Goodsprings, after the other had attacked him with a wrench—and because neither would let the other's automobile pass on the highway between the two towns.

Lockwood was slain between 9 and 10 o'clock last night, two bullets from a pistol bringing instant death. Weems was arrested a short time later and brought to Jasper, where, officers say, he confessed the shooting, claiming self defense.

Argue Over Road

The two men met, Weems told officers, and, the road being narrow at that point, the two cars could not pass without one of them moving to the side of the road. Neither driver would give in, he said.

The two men had never met before, Weems told officers.

Fred Borden and Kermit Springfield, companions of Weems, told substantially the same story as did their friend.

Sheriff S. D. Kilgore is investigating, while Weems is demanding a preliminary hearing. The Walker County grand jury meets next week in regular session and will be given the case at that time, it is indicated.

It is expected that cotton will be used in the manufacture of parachutes, which are now made of silk not grown in the United States. Ford Motor Company Lists Driving Rules

As a contribution toward greater safety and more pleasure driving conditions on the highways of the country this summer, the Ford Motor Company has listed twelve rules as suggestions to motorists and has distributed them to dealers over the country.

Announcement of the suggestions was made recently by Mr. Dorsey, Ford dealer of this city, who will display the list prominently in his place of business.

"These rules," said Mr. Dorsey, "are merely common sense as applied to automobile driving. Every experienced motorist knows all of them. It is our hope, however, that by stating them concisely and posting them where they will come to the attention of a great many motorists, we can so emphasize them as to make a real contribution towards greater highway safety."

The twelve rules are:

1.—Courtesy comes first. Consider the rights and privileges of others.

2.—Keep your mind on your driving, and anticipate sudden emergencies.

3.—Learn the "feel" of having your car under control.

4.—Obey all traffic and parking regulations.

5.—Keep to the right and comply with road markings and signs.

6.—Signal for stops and turns—watch the car ahead.

7.—Slow down at crossings, schools and dangerous places.

8.—Never pass cars on hills, curves, crossings.

9.—Adapt your driving to road conditions—rain, ice, soft spots and ruts.

10.—It doesn't pay to take the "right of way" too seriously.

11.—When you drive, remember the times when you are a pedestrian.

12.—Know the law. It was passed for your protection.

It is estimated that 20,000,000 persons will tour on American Highways this summer," Mr. Dorsey continued. "Recognition of the rights of others will be essential. Many unpleasantries and accidents will be avoided if motorists, at times of close situations, will recall these rules and act accordingly. They are the recommendations of the Ford Motor Company offered to give greater peace of mind to those who travel by automobile."

Little Opp Boy Injured By 'Scooting' Into Truck

OPP, Ala., July 11.—Little Charles Burgess, 7, only child of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Burgess, of this city, was painfully injured while playing in front of his home on Main Street, last night. He, with some other boys, were riding scooters down the hill, when the accident occurred. Charles was going real fast, and did not see a truck ahead of him, until it was too late to avoid hitting it. He hit the rear of a local grocery store truck with such force as to break one leg, and he also received a number of lacerations about the head and body. A doctor was summoned and his leg was set, but he was too badly hurt to be moved to a hospital at the time, so the extent of his injuries are unknown. The accident was said to be unavoidable.

Never cease fighting the rodent pests. They are after your crops incessantly.

Upon suggestion of county agent F. G. Wrenn of Tallapoosa County, local banks are paying for a series of nivertisements in local papers endorsing the recommendations of the Experiment Station at Auburn for boll weevil control.

In every field examined where poisoning with calcium arsenate for boll weevil was done correctly, County Agent P. R. Pettis, of Coweeh County, found that infestation had been reduced to 5 per cent or less. In fields where no dusting was done infestation ranged from 14 to 69 per cent.

The Jefferson County Truck Growers Association enrolled 500 members during the year closing June 1. County Agent J. L. Liles reported that this is the largest membership ever enrolled in one year. Business handled for members during the year amounted to $60,600.65. This is an increase of $10,000.00 over the previous year, and is the greatest amount of business ever handled by the association in one year.

NOTICE BY CONTRACTOR OF COMPLETION OF PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned Contractor, on the 21st day of June, 1929, completed the public improvement under his contract with the State of Alabama for the Reconstruction of Beaver Dam Creek Bridge in Elba, Ala., Coffee County.

Any person, firm or corporation having an unpaid claim against said contractor for supplying said contractor with labor, material, foodstuffs, or supplies, in connection with said work, is hereby notified to present the same in the manner and in the time required by law. T. P. WRIGHT,

J27-Jul 4-11-18. Contractor.

Higher Pork Prices May Be In Sight

Will it be hats off to the hogs, in another year? Most any hog raiser would feel like lifting his hat to a porker which had markedly increased in value over present prices. Whether hogs will rise materially remains to be seen during the next year. However, according to figures released Saturday by F. W. Gist, state and federal statistician, the U. S. is short exactly 4,300,000 pigs over the number last year.

This shortage is felt in Alabama where the reduction is given as 6 per cent by Mr. Gist. Only 89.4 per cent of the sows farrowed this spring compared with 100 per cent in 1928. One compensating feature lies in the fact that the average number of pigs saved per litter is 5.4 compared with 5.1 last spring and 4.6 last fall.

Another striking feature shows that for every 125 sows bred for farrowing the coming fall, only 100 were bred one year ago. This indicates an increasing effort to produce fall pigs.

Alabama, however, has a higher percentage of pigs than for all other southern states, with the exception of Georgia, which with the increasing number of sows bred indicates that Alabama is tending to produce more pork, relatively than other states.

The prices of hogs are determined largely by national supply and demand, rather than by conditions in any one state. The indicated shortage of pigs throughout the United States indicates that there will be a continuation of good prices.

One hundred and ten of Lawrence County's cows were tested for tuberculosis during June, County Agent J. E. Carter and the County Health Unit co-operated in the work.

"Outstanding Quality -- yes; and Low Price, too!"

The New GOODYEAR Pathfinder

But to yoke such quality with low price—that was a task well worthy of the best talent of the greatest rubber manufacturer!

Goodyear has successfully answered that challenge in the new Goodyear Pathfinder tire.

An outstanding tire in quality and value; and remember that despite this quality and value it sells at a really low price.

1. A balanced tire, with all parts equally durable.
2. The powerful carcass is made of genuine Supertwist cord.
3. Heavy wide tread, designed for slow, even wear, delivers exceptional traction and non-skid protetction.
4. Tread materials embody the famous Goodyear principles of rubber toughening.
5. Materials, workmanship and inspection are to the strict Goodyear standard.
6. Available in both High Pressure and Balloon sizes, lifetime guaranteed.

Warden Overpowered; Wife Effects Recapture

CARROLTON, Ala., July 11.—Mrs. S. F. Allen, wife of the warden of the Pickens County Jail, here late yesterday caused the recapture of two prisoners who had made a break for liberty after stoking and heating her husband unconscious.

The men were met at the jail entrance by Mrs. Allen. She was thrust aside but without investigating what had happened inside ,she rounded up a posse of officers and citizens resulting in the recapture of the men a short distance from the jail.

Heroes of the Elba Flood From Florala

It would be ingratitude on my part not to remember even now and always the men who took my wife, my boy and myself from my house top and carried us safe to land on his motor boat. It would be selfish not to thank him from the depth of my heart for his rescue of my daughter, her husband and two babies. I did not know his name then; I had never seen him to remember him, and it was not a time to make inquiries. I know that he was brave and had goodness of heart. I knew he was a hero risking his life to save us. He was Ernest Manning, of Florala, Alabama.

As I have learned the story from a friend in Florala and from a friend in Elba, the Florala boat men and helpers were the first to come from out of the country towns. There were many from Enterprise and New Brockton, in Coffee, who worked Thursday afternoon and night trying to save the people of Elba from the destructive flood waters. There were many from other towns, from Opp, Troy, Montgomery, Birmingham and other towns. Let me say here for all, that I have never seen such heroic action in rescue work for the distressed people of Elba.

I have been told that the Florala boatmen and helpers were the first to reach Elba with their trucks and motor boats, arriving there at 10 o'clock a. m. Friday, March 15th. The names given me are as follows: Boatmen, Messrs. Asa Henderson, C. P. Cawthon, E. D. Manning, J. H. Evans, J. H. Burgess, Clarence Jordan, Way-land Mills; Trucks of Florala Hardware by Mack Sawyer and Herman McDaniel, and Cox Hardware Co., by W. W. Cox and D. W. Quillin and J. G. McGee. The helpers were: John Flournoy, J. C. Evans, Guy Wilson, Eugene and Joe Pilcher, Jr., Jess Driggers, Ed Smith, Frank Jones, Bill Hammonds, J. S. Bullard, H. L. Campbell, Milton Creavy, Curry Cawthon, Sam McCall and D. Hudson. There were four trucks which were driven by Asa Henderson and Curry Cawthon over the railroad.

How they got to Elba is most wonderful. How they came: They encountered difficulties that would baffle and challenge. It was Friday morning, and the news had spread over the state that the flood at Elba threatened to destroy the people who were hovering above it in their house tops. The call had been sent for help and help at once. This information came into Florala, and early Friday morning the people were on the job. The motor boats on Jackson Lake were placed upon four trucks. Other trucks were loaded with timbers and lumber at Lockhart mills to build bridges. Boats, trucks and men began the journey, fraught with difficulties, to Elba.

It was seemingly impossible to get to the people in Elba Thursday night and Friday morning, but the rescuers came; came with the determination to give relief. The story of how these brave Florala men reached Elba is repeated over and over from other places, only different in detail. I hope to give these stories as the facts come to me.

Seven miles from Florala at "Dry Creek" it was impossible to cross the wide spreading waters. A bridge must be constructed, and this was done in mighty haste. The lumber trucks had to return to Lockhart for more timbers and lumber. This crew built a bridge and crossed safely with the trucks, boats and men. It would have taken days for hours used in the construction of this bridge under ordinary conditions.

Hurrying onward, the party reached Green Bay, and the waters were so wide spreading there was no chance to build a bridge across. There was no detour except on the railroad and over the trestle. The trucks were run over the railroad, were driven and pushed along on the crossties and made the journey without mishap or accident and without a puncture. Crossing the waters on the railroad at Green Bay, the party made speed to Opp and to Elba.

I wish I could detail the story of rescue work by these brave men in the Elba flood. I have heard that one boat was capsized, sunk and lost, and Messrs. Clarence Jordan and Wayland Mills had to stay in Elba all night Friday when the chilling waters after a hard day. These Florala boatmen rescued many. Mr. Ernest Manning rescued more than 100 Friday.

I am more familiar with the facts of my own rescue. I did not know Mr. Manning when his boat came chugging around my residence. " My son-in-law, Mr. Kendrick, was with him, and there to sign today where this boat plunged against my screen porch. The currents were sweeping with fury around my house and caused a mighty maelstrom in front. Just how dangerous it was for this boat and for us when they held to the eaves of the roof for my boy, my wife and myself to drop or slide from the roof of the porch into it. It was necessary to observe caution. I was afraid we would capsize the boat in getting into it. Mr. Manning, with steady nerve and brave heart, pulled himself upon the roof and aided us into the boat. We did not know then the dangers ahead of us to land. Mr. Manning could know better than we. We had been in the attic of my home since Thursday noon. It was then 4 o'clock p. m. Friday. We had no water, no food, and another night was coming. The cutting currents about my house were threatening to destroy the building. The waters had stopped rising, but the work of the cyclonic currents was going on. Would the building finally be undermined? We could not know. It was distressing. Small headway against the currents and small progress in rescue had been seen from my house top. Across the street I could see the currents boiling from under the residence of my neighbor. He had asked me about the safety for another night. I had advised him to get out if a boat came before dark.

Easily and cautiously we reated our feet upon the boat. Mr. Manning steered with skill through the dividing currents, reaching the house top where my son-in-law, my daughter and two babies were marooned. Mr. Kendrick pulled himself onto this house top to remain until Mr. Manning could carry us and return. But, oh, the suspense of the return trip! We were delayed on account of the motor going dead. I held to the limbs of a big water oak while Mr. Manning fixed his motor. My wife and little boy must not be spilled into the driving currents. The motor was repaired, and we again started, scraping at times the bottom of the boat upon the stumps, trees, wires and other obstacles. It was a dangerous drive to safety.

Mr. Manning was ages returning with my daughter, husband and babies. As I stood waiting and looking I could imagine them lost in the destructive flood. After a time I saw them pulling through the raging waters to the edge of the rising hill. They were delivered safely. Mr. Manning made his way back for others, and I could hear the calls for help. How could they be rescued before death? Some were hanging to house tops and the houses sinking beneath them. Some were crying for boats to come. These brave men risked their lives to save us. They were like angels sent from God to answer our prayers. They heeded our prayers now as they heroically went to the task. We prayed for them. Not a one was lost, although some had narrow escapes from death. They were God's heroes. It was pitiful to see the boat loads of women and children, smutty and weeping, weeping for joy and distressed at those others back in the flood.

Florala had to come. God sent them and He helped every one of them, and we shall never forget their help in our time of trouble.

Wingless Chicken Will Aid Egg Production

OMAHA, Neb., July 11.—The modern trend toward increased production has hit the egg industry, with it has come a new type of chicken—without wings or toenails.

Dr. R. T. Renwald, Omaha poultry fancier, announced today that after five years experimintation he has succeeded in producing a brood of such chickens.

Normal hens, said Dr. Renwald, are bothered each year with the molting of their wing feathers,during this period, egg production falls off. The new type hen, having no wings, can keep right on laying the year round, producing on the average, Dr. Renwald hopes, 300 eggs per year.

In addition the new chicken will be easier to keep in a yard since she can't fly or scratch. An eighteen inch fence will do.

STEAK WAITS 93 YEARS

The oldest steak stonk in the world has just had another anniversary. It has completed its ninety-third year of hanging in a butcher shop at Sheffield, England, waiting for its purchaser, who paid for it and said "Hang it up, and I will call for it later." He never appeared, so the steak has hung in the same shop. It has lost its oder and three-quarters of its weight.

Crops on the Experiment Station at Auburn are not cultivated any later than grass and weeds warrant it.

Prominent Coffee Farmer Died Last Friday Night

Mr. L. Berry Clark, prominent farmer and citizen of Southwest Coffee, died at his home on last Friday night. Mr. Clark had been in bad health for several months, but his death came as a great shock to his relatives and friends. He was a splendid citizen and his passing will be deeply regretted by scores of friends throughout the county.

Funeral services were held at Cool Springs Church Saturday afternoon and the body was laid to rest there. Mr. Clark is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ida Clark, and two sons and two daughters, namely: T. T. Clark, of Opp, Fulton Clark, of Elba, Mrs. Gordon Cain, of Elba, and Mrs. Leonard Harrison, of Opp.

A UNION MEETING

In the 17th chapter of John we find where Christ prayed for his people to be in unity all as one. So we find too much selfishness between the people.

Therefore, we are going to begin a union meeting, Sunday, July 14th, 3½ miles southwest of Kinston, on the Florala road, at Bethel Church. The meeting will be conducted by Rev. W. R. Quinton, the evangelist, who says he will not preach on doctrines of other churches, but will only preach Jesus Crucified. Everybody is invited to come and take part.

RINGSDORF-FRAZER—

A marriage which will be of much interest to friends was that of Dr. W. M. Ringsdorf, of Elba, and Miss Mary Emma Frazer, of LaFayette. The wedding occurred on Wednesday, July 10th, at the home of the bride, and was a very quiet affair.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Frazer, of LaFayette. She is a very lovable young woman, and has a pleasing personality which has won for her many friends everywhere she is known. The groom has made his home in Elba for several months where he is practicing dentistry, and during his stay here has made scores of friends.

The bride and groom returned to Elba the latter part of last week after a short wedding trip, and are now at home in an apartment at the residence of Mrs. W. P. Boyd, on Davis Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Almen Strain and Miss Madaline Strain went to Troy shopping Friday.

Miss Lillian Rowe, from Troy Normal, spent last week-end with her parents.

Miss Mabel Burdeshaw, of Headland, is the guest of her cousin, Miss Eleanor Conner, this week.

Mr. Harris Winston, of Pensacola, Fla., was the guest of Walter Whitman, Jr., the first of the week.

Mrs. Wesley Ham and children have returned from Starkville, Miss., where they visited Mrs. Ham's brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Taylor and daughters, Helen and Elizabeth, of Birmingham, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. English the first of the week.

Unusual number of ball and roller bearings used in the new Ford

NEW FORD SPORT COUPE $550
(f. o. b. Detroit, plus charge for freight and delivery. Bumpers and spare tire extra.)

FRICTIONLESS ball or roller bearings are used at every point in the new Ford where they will contribute to smooth operation and long life.

Spiral roller bearings, for instance, are used in the rear hub and on the drive shaft at the universal joint. Taper roller bearings are used in the front wheels. Steering is easier because of the roller thrust bearings used on the spindle bolts.

A ball thrust bearing is used for disengaging the clutch and the front end of the clutch shaft is carried in a radial ball bearing in the flywheel. Another reason for the ease of shifting gears in the new Ford is the use of ball and roller bearings in the transmission.

Throughout the new Ford you find this same quality and careful attention to every detail that contributes to good performance. In the words of the experienced mechanic, "the new Ford is a sweet mechanical job."

Note these low prices:
Roadster, $450 Phaeton, $460 Tudor Sedan, $525
Business Coupe, $525 Coupe, $550
Sport Coupe, with rumble seat, $550

River Falls Power Co. Wins Over Ala. Power

MONTGOMERY, Ala., July 16.—The Alabama Power Company will not be permitted to construct a transmission line into the town of Coffee Springs. Members of the town council came before the Public Service Commission Monday and announced that a franchise previously voted to that the power company had been revoked. This clears the way for the construction of a transmission line by the River Falls Power Company.

The two companies were in a controversy over rival claims, each contending that it had the legal right to serve the town. The Public Service Commission heard the petitions of both companies for certificates of convenience and necessity two weeks ago. The ending of the controversy and the withdrawal of the franchise voted to the Alabama Power Co., means that the Commission will approve the plan of the River Falls Power Company without delay provided satisfactory adjustment is made regarding a water supply. The River Falls Power Co. recently agreed to take over the water system and improve it provided the right to build an electric distribution system was granted.

Houston Youth Held to Await Stabbing Result

DOTHAN, Ala., July 16.—Buford Franklin, of Cottonwood, is held in the Houston County Jail here charged with assault with intent to murder, and Roy Cox, also of Cottonwood, is at his home suffering from a knife wound in the lung as the result of an affray between the two at Cottonwood Church Sunday night.

Cox is said to be in serious condition.

Franklin was captured by members of the sheriff's force late Monday and brought to Dothan. Date for the preliminary hearing has not been set.

Franklin stated Tuesday morning that the row started when Cox accused him of saying that he (Cox) had stolen some clothing. Franklin says that he denied this, and that Cox then started to curse him. According to Franklin they were quieted down until the conclusion of church services, and at the finish of the services he was walking home. He states that Cox drew up in his buggy, jumped out and began to beat him. Franklin also stated that several boys with Cox attempted to aid him at the same time. He states that he then drew his knife and stabbed Cox. Franklin states that there had been no ill feeling between them and that the entire matter was the result of Cox's anger over the alleged accusation that he had stolen the clothing.

WORK BEGINS SOON ON ELBA-BRANTLEY LINK OF HIGHWAY

State Highway Department To Build Road With Convict Labor; Camp Is Established Near Bullock; Work Will Start At Elba.

Work on the Elba-Brantley highway will be begun by the State Highway Department within the next few days, if all plans work out successfully, according to announcement just made here. This road will be built with convict labor, and the camp, which has been located on the Morrow plantation, near Bullock, is practically completed and will soon be ready for the crew. The camp is about eight miles from Elba and a little more than that distance from Brantley.

It is understood that the work will be begun at the corporate limits of Elba. The State will send about 100 convicts to this job, and the crew will have about 60 mules, together with other road-building equipment.

When this road is completed, it will be one of the nearest routes from Elba to Montgomery. The distance will be shortened by about six miles, and the Elba traffic will very likely use this route instead of the route by Troy. Dothan will also be nearer to Montgomery when this road is completed. It has been estimated that the distance from Dothan to Montgomery will be about 20 miles less by Elba and Enterprise than by Ozark and Troy. If this is true, then it is possible that much of the Bee Line traffic will pass through this town.

When completed, this road will be a great asset to the town of Elba. It opens up a large trade territory which has heretofore had no roads at all suitable for automobile transportation. The town of Brantley will also be greatly benefited by this road.

Officers of O. E. S. Elected

At a recent meeting of the O. E. S., the following officers were elected and appointed:

Methodist Pastor Goes To Hospital For Six Weeks

Physicians have advised Rev. E. B. Paul, pastor of the Elba Methodist Church, that the condition of his health requires that he give up his pastoral duties for at least six weeks. Rev. Paul announced from his pulpit Sunday morning and evening that he would go to a Montgomery hospital for treatment.

During the pastor's absence, arrangements are being made to have the pulpit filled at each Sunday morning service by some visiting preacher. The young people of the Church will have charge of the evening services. By past performances, these young folks have demonstrated that they are capable of furnishing programs well worth anybody's attendance.

The sympathy and best wishes of the whole community go out to Brother Paul in his affliction.

QUARTERLY MEETING AT NEW BROCKTON—

The young people's organization of the Coffee County Baptist Association held their quarterly meeting at New Brockton, Saturday, in the absence of the county leader, Mrs. R. G. Hutchison, the meeting was presided over by Mrs. B. S. Franklin.

The principal speaker of the day was Miss Boyles, of Huntsville, Ala., who added much to the meeting with her inspirational and instructive talks.

Among the Elba representatives there were: Mesdames B. S. Franklin, W. T. Whitman and J. W. Kendrick, Misses Hazel Blair, Ruby Folsom, Eleanor Conner, Minnie Lou DeVane, Doris Whitman, Marguerite Franklin, Lois Swain, Tot-sye Rhodes, Margaret Brunson, Robert Lassetter Whitman and Mary Will Kendrick.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MRS. MORROW—

Mrs. Jake Morrow, who before her recent marriage was Miss Alma Lambert, was the honoree at a miscellaneous shower given on Friday afternoon by Mrs. C. O. Miller at her home in West Elba.

Varicolored cut flowers decorated the home in a beautiful way.

Miss Irene DeVane, cousin of the bride, greeted the guests as they arrived. Those receiving were: Mrs. C. O. Miller, Mrs. Jake Morrow, Mrs. D. J. Lobert, Mrs. Levie Morrow and Mrs. Madie Holley, of Chipley, Fla.

Miss Eva Hammond, of Dothan, mastered the guests from the living room to the prettily decorated hall way where Miss Eleanor Conner presided over the bride's book.

The bride was lovely on this occasion in a blue georgette dress and tan hat and shoes. Mrs. Miller proved herself a fine hostess.

DR. W. C. BRASWELL RE-ELECTED PREST CO. FARM BUREAU

Spirit Of Optimism Prevailed At Annual Meeting At New Brockton Last Saturday; $191,000.00 Co-operative Business Done.

DR. W. C. BRASWELL

The annual county-wide Farm Bureau meeting was held at New Brockton last Saturday forenoon, at which time officers for another year were elected. Dr. W. C. Braswell was re-elected president, A. B. Moates, vice-president, and H. C. Talbot, J. M. Donaldson, J. B. Martin, J. I. Pierce, S. H. Tindol, W. J. Harbuck and J. G. Redmon, directors.

Dr. W. C. Braswell made the statement that in the face of such hard times as the past two or three years, that the Coffee County Farm Bureau did a co-operative business of $191,000, and that he was still very optimistic as to the future of the great co-operative movement, pointing out the fact that the only provision made by Congress to help the farmer was made to operate through the various farm organizations, and in order to receive any help from the government the farmers must co-operate and pull together.

Mrs. Floride Reese and three of her music pupils rendered a number of selections at the opening of the program.

Miss Eloise Lassetter gave two readings in keeping with the occasion.

Miss Jewel Jackson, 4-H club member, who was County 4-H club representative to Auburn at the annual short course week, gave a very interesting report of the year's club program.

Mr. W. C. Lassiter Addressed Farmers

Mr. Lassiter took as his subject, "The Trend of the Progress in Machinery." Mr. Lassiter pointed out the fact that in the beginning that man only had his hands to do work with and later he had the hoe, then the plow, then the two-horse and two-row plow; and now the tractor that will plow a number of rows at one time.

Mr. Lassiter pointed out the fact that maybe the farmers are not ready or able to farm just as they should, or would like to, but insisted that if they could not adopt the very best methods of cultivating their farms another year that they should do the next best thing to it and by degrees they would finally be able to. He said that if we could not farm as we would like to that there is nothing to keep one from thinking about it, and if one keeps it on his mind strong enough and long enough, that he will get to it sooner than he would if he does not aspire to better methods.

It is costing farmers too much for man labor to produce a crop in Coffee County, and there is no denying the fact that a great saving can be had by the use of more cultivators on the farm. There is only one big handicap to the use of cultivators in Coffee County and that is an available one—stumps. They should be removed from the fields whether a man ever expects to use a cultivator or not. Now is the time to begin to make plans to get them out, this fall and winter, so as to be sure not to have to plow and hoe around them next year.

I was in a fine field of cotton a few days ago where four big strong men and four big mules were going twice to the row. One man could have done the same work with two of the mules in the same time and done it easier while the other three men could have been fighting boll weevils, hauling out the barnyard manure, filling up some gully, cutting bushes in the pasture or putting a temporary fence around an early summer grazing patch for hogs, and if absolutely impossible to find anything to do—go fishing.

Two Elba Boys Will Fight at Samson

Two local youths will participate in an elaborate boxing card, under the auspices of the Samson American Legion, which will usher in the open air fistic season in the Geneva County city's new stadium Friday night. Seven whirlwind bouts will compose the card in charge of Promoter Ab Smith, according to announcement.

"Battlin'" Frankie Lane, youthful Elba fighter who has been unsuccessful in his last three skirmishes, will oppose "Knockout" Powell, Samson battler, in one of the feature bouts of the evening. Lane will tip the beams at 118 pounds, spotting his adversary some four pounds, according to advance reports.

Frankie declares himself in fine fettle for the Samson engagement and hopes to put an end to his recent losing streak. He has been indulging in an intensive training campaign since his last fight, and expects to be in excellent trim for Powell. The bout is scheduled to go three rounds.

"Lightening" William Ellis, another local youngster who has recently entered boxing circles, will meet Kid Simmons, Samson 110-pounder, in the initial fight of his fistic career as part of the card. Ellis has established a local reputation as a shifty puncher and is expected to deal the Samson youth plenty of misery during their three rounds of milling. He will enter the ring weighing 112 pounds.

Five other three-round battles will be waged during the evening's entertainment, according to Promoter Smith, and lively fisticuffing is assured fans who turn out for the melee. The card will get underway promptly at 7:30 o'clock. A large delegation of Elba boxing enthusiasts will probably journey to the Geneva County city and back the local entries.

Mrs. Hattie Conner and little Miss Gladys Whitman are visiting in Dothan this week, where they are guests of Dr. and Mrs. Stough.

Mrs. Fred Nall and little daughters, Glennie and Mary, who were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Deal, have returned to their home in Troy.

Annual Memorial Sing At Bradshaw Schoolhouse

On Monday, July 15th, the sacred harp singers and the lovers of sacred harp music met at Bradshaw School House at an early hour for the 23rd annual session of the W. H. Archer Memorial Singing.

The house was called to order by J. M. Donaldson by singing two songs, on pages twenty-seven and thirty-eight, after which Claud Rogers offered prayer.
